THE EAR

THE CHATTY CHEST, CONT'D

... High excitement on the Censorship Front. The Senate's voted to suppress a T-Shirt. The T to be squashed is made in Mount

Ida, Ark., peddled by mail in macho mags like Soldier of Fortune, and - are you ready? - emblazoned: "INSTRUCTOR: CAMP PEARY, VA." Ear hears your cry of disappointment: "How wishy-washy! Everyone knows that Camp Peary's the CIA's Academy of Underhanded Undertakings and Tacky Tricks, Ear." How true. But July 16, the Senate stuck a special little clause onto the Intelligence Authorization Act. It asks for a legal injunction against the terrible T's sale and, watch out, here comes the sizzly bit, "such other action as is warranted." Ear will certainly never sell such a T... Meanwhile, here's how the Association of Former Intelligence Officers raises money for high-jinks and charities: It sells T-shirts labeled "KGB." Everyone is behaving very, very strangely, above the belt. Keep going.
